

Razorwire

Razor Wire (also known as barbed tape) is the modern version of barbed wire, designed to prevent intrusion along perimeter barriers. Razor Wire is fabricated from high tensile wire (virtually impossible to cut with standard tools) onto which a multitude of razor-sharp barbs are formed at close intervals.

The barbs are designed to have a piercing and gripping action. The wire and strip are galvanised to prevent corrosion.

